

COMMUNITY CONVERSATIONS on RACE

The evolution of policing in America and in Placer County

Wednesday, March 8, 2023 – 7 to 9 pm

LOCATION: Senior Activity Room at Rocklin Parks & Recreation Office
5460 5th Street, Rocklin, CA 95677

To Register: <https://community-conversations-policing.eventbrite.com>

After the death of George Floyd in 2020, calls to “defund the Police” and the recent death of Tyre Nichols, many cities and Police Departments are reevaluating their police practices.

How has policing changed over time? What kind of policing do we want to occur moving forward? Are current police officers adequately trained for current and future incidents like domestic disputes, mental health crises and cybercrime? What qualities do police officers need today to resolve these calls? How do we want them to handle mental health situations?

Please join us for this panel discussion, as we create an open space where we can:

- Share the experience of a Roseville resident who participated in a Police Department ride-along
- Explore the history and policies of policing in America
- Hear from members of the Rocklin and Roseville Police Departments
- Share our perspectives and questions about police practices and policies

Our panelists include:

- Susie Philipp, Roseville resident
- Dr. William Reed, Psychology Consultant
- Rocklin Police Lieutenant Luke Sincerny
- Roseville Police Lieutenant Jeff Kool

This panel discussion is part of a monthly series called Community Conversations on Race. We plan to expand the scope of our Racial Healing gatherings to include diverse topics of concern to people in Rocklin, Roseville and Placer County.
